🔴 Issues That Could Cause Rejection

1. ⚠️ Third-Party Ad Network Running Alongside AdSense

> CAUTION
> This is your #1 risk factor. The following script was found in your `<head>`:
> html
> <script async
> src="https://pl29414403.profitablecpmratenetwork.com/dc/46/48/dc4648ebae0f837bba8aff30ff60e845.js"></script>
> This is a third-party ad network (ProfitableCPMRateNetwork / popunder/push notification network). Google does not allow other ad networks to run on a site that is pending AdSense approval. This alone can cause an immediate rejection.
> Fix: Remove this script entirely before AdSense reviews your site. Only add it back (if at all) after approval, and only if AdSense's policies allow it.

2. ⚠️ `/terms` URL Returns 404

The footer links in Privacy Policy and About pages reference `/terms-of-service` (which works), but `/terms` returns a 404 Not Found. If Google's crawler follows the wrong link, it could hit a dead page.

Fix: Add a redirect from `/terms` → `/terms-of-service`, or update all internal links to use `/terms-of-service` consistently.

3. ⚠️ Copyrighted Anime / Fanart Content

Several wallpapers on the homepage feature clearly copyrighted characters:

- "Portgas D. Ace in Fiery Action" (One Piece character — Toei Animation)
- "Monkey D. Luffy from One Piece Manga Montage" (One Piece — Toei Animation)
- "Superheroes Wallpaper" (potentially DC/Marvel content)

> CAUTION

> Google AdSense does not allow monetization of copyrighted content without authorization. Wallpaper sites with anime/fanart are a well-known rejection reason. The About page says content comes from Unsplash, direct uploads, and commissioned works — but user-uploaded anime wallpapers are legally risky.
> Fix:
> - Remove all clearly copyrighted character wallpapers before review.
> - Or add a prominent disclaimer AND a working DMCA takedown workflow.
> - Ensure your content moderation (Sightengine) actively filters copyrighted content.

4. ⚠️ All Like/Download Counts Are Zero

Every visible wallpaper shows `♥ 0` and `↓ 0`. This signals to Google reviewers that the site may be low-traffic or inactive.

> NOTE
> Google wants to see an active, engaged site. While not an automatic rejection, a brand-new site with zero engagement metrics can slow approval.

5. 🟡 Privacy Policy URL Inconsistency

- The page `/privacy` exists ✅
- The page `/privacy-policy` also exists ✅ (seems to be a duplicate/redirect)
- But the footer links to both `/privacy-policy` (labeled "Privacy Policy") and... nothing for `/privacy`.
- The Privacy Policy itself links to `/privacy-policy` in the footer, which is consistent.

Make sure `/privacy` redirects to `/privacy-policy` to avoid duplicate content confusion.

6. 🟡 Blog Content Age / Depth

Blog posts are dated March–May 2025, and there are only 6 posts. While the content is real and well-written, AdSense prefers sites with a track record of regular content publication.

Suggestion: Add 2–3 more blog posts with recent dates before or during review.

7. 🟡 No Cookie Consent Banner (GDPR/CMP)

> [!IMPORTANT]
> If your traffic includes users from the EU, UK, or California, Google AdSense now requires a Consent Management Platform (CMP) for GDPR compliance. Without one, Google may limit ad serving or flag the site.
> Fix: Integrate a Google-certified CMP (e.g., Cookiebot, CookieYes, or Google's own Funding Choices). This is mandatory for GDPR-region traffic.

📋 Summary Checklist

Must Fix Before Review Can Pass

- 🔴 Remove the `profitablecpmratenetwork` script from `<head>`
- 🔴 Remove or hide copyrighted anime/fanart wallpapers during review period

Should Fix Soon

- 🟡 Add redirect from `/terms` → `/terms-of-service`
- 🟡 Add a Cookie Consent / CMP banner (especially for EU traffic)
- 🟡 Add 2–3 more blog posts with recent dates

Nice to Have

- 🟣 Fix duplicate Privacy Policy URLs (`/privacy` vs `/privacy-policy`)
- 🟣 Drive some real traffic before review to show engagement
- 🟣 Ensure content moderation filters copyrighted uploads automatically

🏁 Overall Verdict

> [!WARNING]
> Do not expect approval in the current state. The third-party ad network script running alongside AdSense is a near-certain rejection reason. The copyrighted anime content is a significant second risk. Fix the two 🔴 critical issues first, then resubmit.

Confidence of approval after fixes: ~75–80% ✅

The site itself is well-built, has proper legal pages, original blog content, and a clear niche — all positive signals. Once the ad network conflict and copyright content are addressed, it has a strong chance of approval.
